110 Gull River properties affected by the designation of a flood plain zone

Flood plain mapping, which could affect more than 110 properties along the Gull River in Lutterworth Township, was unveiled at a special meeting of the township council January 22. Close to 60 of the properties are currently undeveloped and could have the most serious restrictions placed on them as planners attempt to reduce the hazard to private property and eliminate the introduction of new obstructions which could cause increased flooding to areas further upstream.

The mapping which was revealed Wednesday, only covers the municipality of Lutterworth. The Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden are currently undergoing a similar study. While the results of that study have yet to be made public, it is expected that many properties along the river will be affected in a similar manner.

One aspect which sets Anson, Hindon and Minden apart from Lutterworth is the fact the municipality has applied for and received special status for property in the Minden Village area adjacent to the river. While this may help reduce the overall impact of the restrictions, the introduction of a hazard zone will definitely have ramifications for all property owners along the Gull River.

The Minden plan is currently in the preparation stage and is expected to be released in the near future.

Brian O'Donaghue, Senior Planner in the Huntsville District of the MNR, was the chief spokesman of the group presenting the plans. The group at the Lutterworth meeting included Doug Brown of Environment Canada, Engineer Bill McMullen of the Huntsville office of the MNR, and Grahame Wales, a resource technician at the Minden office of the MNR.

O'Donaghue told Council the flood plain study had been undertaken in response to an Ontario Cabinet decision in 1979, "to provide a certain level of protection to people who build around lakes and rivers where there is a possibility of flooding." He pointed out that while Lutterworth Township had included hazard land zoning in the 1981 Comprehensive Zoning Bylaw, the ministry, "felt certain areas along the Gull River were not adequately covered."

Objections by the MNR held up the progress of the zoning bylaw until 1983 when the municipality introduced an interim control bylaw to freeze development along the river. The zoning bylaw was formally approved by the Ontario Municipal Board in 1984.

Mapping program

The mapping program began with low level aerial photographic surveys that were translated into contour maps. Delays were caused when mistakes were discovered in the original maps, but the planner noted those problems have been remedied and accurate detailed maps of the Gull River area have been produced.

With the maps completed the next step involved the determination of areas prone to flooding.

The consulting engineers studied water level records, then estimated the highest level that could be expected over a 100 year period. This, "Once in a hundred years flood," statistic was fed into a computer which in turn created maps to indicate the extent of flooding along the river course. The consultants also determined the high water marks in the event of a "Regional Design Storm", similar to one which caused severe flooding in Timmins in 1961 when 6 inches of rain fell in a 24 hour period.

The two high water marks are essentially the same on the contour maps presented to council.

The MNR was not only concerned with the effect of flooding on the area at present they were also concerned with the effect of development along the river. A study predicted that if unlimited development was allowed along a 30 metre wide strip on both banks of the river in the event of a flood the water levels would increase by 10 inches in the northern part of the township and 6 inches in the village of Minden.

Adding fill to building lots for landscaping and driveways can have a significant impact on flooding upstream, O'Donaghue commented. "In a situation where a flood only affected this municipality, Council could have more say (in development), but because it affects Minden in another municipality, the provincial government enters the picture."

Councillor Al Stott expressed concern over the plight of people who have purchased property along the river with the intention of building residences and asked the planner if the ministry would be against Ginger Elliott reacts with surprise as her name is announced as the winner of the 1986 Minden Kinsmen Winter Carnival Queen Contest. Ginger was among ten contestants to take part in this year's pageant. For a full story on this year's carnival, see story below and photos on pages 11, 12 and 13.

Minden alive with the fun of 1986 Winter Carnival

The community of Minden and visitors to the Highlands turned out in force to celebrate the thirtieth Minden Kinsmen Winter Canrival over the weekend.

The three day event began unofficially with the opening game in the Winter Carnival Bonspiel at the Minden Curling Club on Friday evening. 24 rinks from centres throughout the province took part in the spiel that ended Sunday afternoon.

Following Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Sinc Nesbitt's declaration that the carnival had begun, the master of ceremonies, Bill Payne, paid tribute to the many organizations and individuals who make the annual event possible, then introduced the contestants in the Carnival Queen contest.

After the announcement of Dianne Clayton as second lady-in-waiting, and Cathy Beaver as first lady-in-waiting, Ginger Elliott was crowned Queen of the Winter Carnival by the 1985 Queen, Lainie Rendall. The queen and her two ladies-in-waiting, then dropped the puck for the opening face-off of the All-Star hockey game between the Lindsay Trent Chev-Olds and the Minden Monarchs.

The game was far from a classic hockey contest, but the fans had plenty to cheer about as the home team skated to a 10-3 win.

Early Saturday morning, over 100 riders set out from the Minden Firehall on the 1986 Ride for Timmy. At 9 a.m. the Novice hockey tournament began, featuring eight teams from throughout the region.

After defeating Victoria Glass of Lindsay 5-2 and shutting out Morley Greaves 10-0, Bracebridge romped to a 12-0 win over Port Carling to capture the championship trophy.

The Minden Novice team was awarded the consol-

Excellent conditions attract master skiers

Ideal track conditions and the efforts of a large number of volunteers combined to make the Central Canadian Masters Cross-Country Ski Championships an overwhelming success.

The races were held on Saturday and Sunday on the competitive track established by the Haliburton Highlands Nordic Trail Association. The event was organized by the Haliburton Highlands Cross Country Club in association with the Nordic Trail Association, the Canadian Masters Cross-Country Ski Association and the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce. This was the first major event to be held on the recently completed competitive course.

On Saturday, the start time was delayed an hour to allow for a build up of soft snow over the hard packed trails. The slight delay proved worthwhile, as the racers found conditions ideal. Sixty-nine cross country racers age 30 to 70 competed in the various freestyle classes based on age classifications.

Forty-six year old Ossi Juola had the second best overall time completing the 15 km course in 45:44 minutes. Under the handicapping system, his time was adjusted to give him the best overall time in the men's classes of 42:59 minutes.

Pat Konantz was the top woman racer in the 10 km race with a time of 44:32.

On Sunday track conditions were excellent as over 80 skiers from Quebec and Ontario competed in the 30 km race for men and 20 km race for women. The skiers were restricted to traditional techniques only. Ossi Juola amazed the spectators with the best overall time of the day to complete a clean sweep of the event.

In spite of the fact that this race was the first event of its kind organized in the Highlands, the experts who attended were impressed. According to Steve Hemming, a member of the Haliburton Highlands Cross-Country Ski Club, both the president of the World Masters and the president of the Canadian Masters Cross-Country Ski Association who attended, commented the races were one of the best organized events they had witnessed. Hemming credited the members of the Alpine and cross country ski patrols, members of the ski club, trail association and many other volunteers for their dedicated efforts.

Many of the skiers felt more confident as they raced around the course because of the high numbers of people stationed along the trail, Hemming said. He gave special credit to Dr. Bob Heyes, Chief of the course who was responsible for the track preparation and Karl Hartwick Chief of Race. While there are no major races planned for this winter on the course, the success of the weekend's premier championship augers well for the future of cross-country skiing in the Highlands and is an important beginning in the campaign by area skiers to stage the World Cup on the Nordic Trail system.

11 drivers charged

Stiffer penalties may have had an impact over the holiday season, but police report there has been an increase in the number of impaired drivers charged since the new year. According to the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, five such charges have been laid this week, bringing this month's total to 11.

Statistics from last year indicate that only one individual was charged in the county with the impaired driving offense.

The OPP spokesman noted that most of the charges have been laid during the afternoon, and that two of those facing a court appearance were driving snowmobiles.

"It would appear that the fear of incurring a greater penalty and a longer licence suspension has had little effect so far in this region," Community Services Officer, Constable Gary Chapman, commented this week.

Man charged

An Irondale man has been charged with eight counts of break, enter and theft following a number of incidents in the Salerno Lake area last year.

According to the police, a number of cottages were entered and a quantity of items removed from the properties. The missing property has been recovered by the police.

Charged with the eight counts is 49 year old Owen Sanford Mintz of Glamorgan Township.

Constable Al Bibby is the investigating officer.

any development or allow limited construction," considering each case on its own merit." He also asked if dredging the river had been considered to reduce flooding in developed areas.

He was told that dredging would not only be very costly, it would have little effect because there is not sufficient gradient between Minden and Gull Lake. O'Donaghue made no promises regarding limited development, warning that in time "piecemeal development can build up an area and cause serious problems. Don't forget we are not talking just about the next few years. We are talking about forever."

Deputy Reeve Carol Puffer summed up the concerns of council when she pointed out people have been paying taxes on property that now appears to be relatively worthless." Both O'Donaghue and the Environment Canada representative Doug Brown offered some hope by suggesting it may be possible to allow development provided certain restrictions are met such as floodproofing, limitations on fill, the the requirement that buildings be constructed at the back of the property, away from the river.

The MNR planner asked council to provide information on the lots that fall under the flood plain and promised to study the proposed development and any restrictions decided on by the municipality.

Since Wednesday's meeting, the municipal staff have been going through the municipal records and have determined over 110 lots fall under the flood plain areas. At least half of these lots are undeveloped.

O'Donaghue concluded his presentation by recommending the information provided by the ministry be reflected in the township comprehensive zoning bylaw.

Municipal responsibility

While the onus is being placed on the municipality to place restrictions on riverfront development, Doug Brown pointed out residents who build in flood-prone areas are affected by federal and provincial legislation.

"Residents who build on flood plains would not receive disaster relief in the event of a flood and would not qualify for a CMHC mortgage or a CHIP grant". However, he emphasised the policy is not retroactive, that buildings constructed before the zoning was put in place would not be affected by the legislation.

Some work remains on the mapping, Brown said, and when the project is completed maps will be made available to the public as well as detailed information on the watercourse. He suggested an open house be organized to provide more detailed and specific information for the public.

Reeve Bill Valentine commented that in the light of the new information, "Council will have to work slowly and do everything we can to help the people."

A meeting was scheduled with the municipal planner to decide on further action and to combine the contour maps with existing lot lines. Similar work is being carried out by Bob Lehman, planner of the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden to determine the impact the flood plain mapping will have on the future of the municipality.

Snowarama riders raise $31,000

Snowmobile riders in Minden and Haliburton helped to raise close to $31,000 for handicapped children in Ontario during the past weekend.

The money was raised in two Snowarama events held on Saturday.

The Minden ride was co-ordinated and sponsored by the Rotary Club of the community. According to chairman Paul Sisson, it drew 103 riders who contributed $19,500. The totals represented a decrease in the number of riders but an increase in the money pledged for the Easter Seal Society. Last year some 115 riders raised $19,000.

Bill Seedhouse, Toronto, once again led the riders in the Minden Snowarama by bringing in $5,760 worth of pledges. Del Taylor, Beaverton, another enthusiastic fund raiser, presented the officials at the registration desk with cash and cheques totalling $1,812.

In Haliburton, the Rotary Club once again took on the responsibility of organizing the run. According to the chairman Greg Bishop, the ride netted $11,500 from 75

MNR appoints county water level coordinator

As part of a long term effort to solve the problem of fluctuating water levels in the Gull River watershed, members of the Haliburton Highlands Water Levels Committee (H.H.W.L.C.) met with senior officials of the Ministry of Natural Resources on Friday, January 17.

Among those attending were Haliburton County Warden Harry Davis, Robert Burgar, Assistant Deputy Minister of the MNR, Ron Christie, Regional Director, Don White, District Manager, Paul Steven, Regional Engineer and Biologist Wayne Wilson of the Minden District office.

According to a press release issued this week, the purpose of the meeting was to involve the ministry in the various issues, concerns and problems of the reservoir lakes and waterway system, to obtain the appointment of a senior provincial government contact and co-ordinator, to review items requiring MNR involvement, and to agree on future course of action.

Discussions were also held on the key recommendations of a consultant's study of the waterway system carried out last year, including resolving the federal-provincial jurisdiction management and operating agreement for the area; the need for "Canada-Ontario Policies for the Rideau Trent Severn Corridor (CORTS) to have regard for the Reservoir Lakes Area"; the need for a feasibility study on a Conservation study; the need for a flood-prone inventory and removal of constraints in the Gull River and Shadow and Silver Lakes area as well as the construction of weirs to regulate water fluctuations.

As the result of the discussions, Don White was appointed MNR co-ordinator to act as liason with the water levels committee. The committee members distributed a draft, "of an agreement respecting the management and operation of the Trent-Severn Reservoir Lakes Area and Waterway System which could be used as a basis for a formal agreement."

According to the press release there was some discussion of a possibility of changing the name of the committee to the Haliburton Highlands Water Management Advisory Committee to more accurately reflect its role.

In his concluding remarks the assistant deputy minister stated the MNR was looking forward to continued co-opperation and further meetings with the committee to assist in resolving the issues.

Warden Harry Davis described Friday's meeting as being very productive and said further meetings will be held in the near future.

Caught in the middle

Lutterworth council got its first look at the proposed hazard land area along the Gull River last Wednesday. The information, provided by Ministry of Natural Resources personnel, outlined the areas where MNR officials would prefer to see little or no residential or cottage development take place. Their reasoning is based on computer models which have predicted serious flood conditions if the region was to experience heavy rainfall similar to what has occurred elsewhere in the province.

The officials are also enforcing provincial policy in regard to flood-prone areas. The policy limits the construction of new structures in potential flood areas to shield the property owner from flood damage and to eliminate obstructions to water flow which can cause increased damage upstream.

While the Ministry of Natural Resources is the agency responsible for creating the policy and ensuring its provisions are not ignored, it falls to the municipality to create the legislation to ensure it is enforced. If the municipality refuses to act, the MNR can effectively block any further development in that jurisdiction until the provisions of the policy are being applied.

This method of approaching the problem leaves the municipality at a distinct disadvantage. Not only are the municipal councils being asked to enforce a policy which they may not endorse, the councils know full-well that the property owners whose land will be affected will be up in arms as well. The councillors will be the target of a great deal of criticism and abuse if and when they attempt to restrict riverside development, even though the policy is not theirs. Indeed, the provincial government, through the Ministry of Natural Resources, is a shadowy second player which may have discovered a neat way to avoid as much criticism as possible by shielding itself with the municipal councils.

The implementation of this policy will also strain the resources of area municipalities. Asked to rule on whether a particular piece of property is suitable for development or the introduction of fill, the councils will have few resources at hand with which to make an informal decision. The councils will be forced to turn to the MNR for the answers, yielding more of its ability to guide development in its own jurisdiction to the provincial authorities.

At the moment, the problem is that of Lutterworth Township. However, the same situation will soon exist in Anson, Hindon and Minden, other municipalities in this county and elsewhere.

Editor:

I am writing in response to the article printed in last week's paper. I agree with the points made by you in your editorial about finding some middle ground.

As we all know, being residents of Minden, how important capturing business from out-of-towners is. Most businesses in the area count on the extra income these travellers bring to the Highlands.

What bothers me about the comments made by the mentioned cottage associations is that they live in larger centres and we all know about sign pollution there. They don't seem to understand that we country folk have to make a living and we don't have the large corporations employing us. If these people have to look at a few signs while driving to their cottages, I am sorry, but once they get to their cottages they don't have to see any signs except keep out, private property, no hunting, and of course their name signs that they and their neighbours have posted at the end of their lanes.

As for the members of our town council, they have very short memories. It wasn't very long ago when the election campaign was on hot and heavy and their signs dotted the countryside every 50 ft. or so. Now that they are comfortably filling county seats, they're making new rules.

Farm help program continues

- by John Eakins, MPP -

In August, my colleague, the Minister of Agriculture and Food, announced a $50 million program to assist farmers in reducing their interest costs. The Ontario Family Farm Interest Rate Reduction program or (OFFIRR) was scheduled to close this month, but was extended because a late harvest meant many farmers needed more time to prepare their year-end cash flow data. The new deadline has been set at March 15. The Minister has also extended the deadline for action against farmers in financial trouble under three provincial programs.

About 5,000 farm families have applied for assistance under the OFFIRR program so far and application forms are available from local OMAF offices.

On a bright winter morning, it's not unusual to hear a serenade of high sweet-sweet notes tumbling down from the blue sky. If you can spot the source of these sunny notes, you will see a flock of small birds, usually just wheeling out of sight beyond the trees. These are the "winter finches", a group that includes a colourful array ranging from the purple finch (which looks like its head and shoulders have been dipped in raspberry juice) to the lemon-yellow goldfinch.

Goldfinches are common in southern Ontario year-round, but they retreat from the top end of their nesting range in northern Ontario for the winter. Even in winter, goldfinches retain a dusky yellow colour on their bodies and the black wings which make them so distinctive. In summer, the males of these "wild canaries" are a brilliant yellow, set off with a black cap to match the black wings.

Goldfinches are birds of the open field, especially if the field is one with lots of thistles. Thistle seeds are an important part of the goldfinch diet, along with many other weed seeds and small fruits. The fondness of these birds for thistles is so pronounced that it is reflected in their official latin name - Carduelis tristis. "Carduus" is latin for thistle. "Tristis" means sad, presumably in reference to the plaintive flight-call.

Thistles are more than simply food for the goldfinch. They also serve as nest-lining in the tightly-woven nests placed in a small shrub or tree. Goldfinch nests are reportedly so tight that they hold water! The thistlebirds are late nesters, keeping to their large flocks until late summer before they pair off to nest.

Effort begins to end family violence

As part of a campaign to increase public awareness of the problem of family violence, February has been declared "Break the Silence Month" by Haliburton County Council.

The announcement was made at the meeting of Council on January 15, following a presentation by two members of the Haliburton Action Committee of the Family Violence Safety Network. Sara Fernald, an Outreach Worker with the Peterborough YWCA and the co-ordinator of the network, told council that at present there are two crisis shelters in Peterborough to provide refuge to women fleeing from physical, sexual and psychological abuse. Transportation is available to the centres for women in the county and a 24 hour toll-free line has been established to allow women to call the crisis centre for counselling or help without fear the call will be listed on their telephone bill.

As the network expands to include Victoria and Haliburton Counties, efforts will be made to provide more local alternatives for battered wives, Fernald said, including a full time outreach worker in each county and the establishment of safe houses in volunteer's homes.

Sergeant Bill Bailey of the Minden Detachment of the OPP told council that while the problem of family violence is no more intense in this area than in other parts of the country, "It is just as bad. We have battered wives at the very least, and possible homicides." He said the police are well aware of the problem and with the recent change in laws regarding wife abuse Crown Attornies are determined to strongly prosecute cases brought to court.

The problem is particularly acute during the month of February when the high unemployment rate, coupled with rural isolation, results in the increase in frustration and violence. Citing figures prepared by the OPP, Bailey said there are 2 or 3 incidents of violence brought to their attention each month during the year, but there is an increase in February. In 1983 12 incidents were investigated by the OPP and in 1984 9 incidents were reported. One of these domestic disputes resulted in murder, Bailey said. There is an acute need for an increase in services to the county to provide alternatives to victims of violence and there are indications the provincial government is aware of the problem and intends to provide more services in the region, he commented.

During the month of February there will be a series of public forums to focus attention on the problem of family violence. The first will be held on Wednesday, February 5, at the Minden Community Centre at 7:30 p.m. Sara Fernald and Sergeant Bailey will be among the speakers. Gena Robertson of the Haliburton Children's Aid Society, Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Sinc Nesbitt and a member of the medical profession will also be in attendance.

Forums will also be held in the community centre in Haliburton on Thursday, February 13, at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre in Wilberforce on Tuesday, February 18 and at the Dorset Community Centre on Thursday, February 27.

Each of the public forums will begin at 7:30 p.m.

A student's view of county council

Students of the grade 4-A class at Archie Stouffer Elementary School have been learning the intricacies of municipal government. Earlier this month, the class, under the direction of teacher Mrs. Bernie Davis, attended the regular meeting of Haliburton County Council. Presenting the students' unique view of the morning proceedings, is student reporter Melissa Grozelle.

On January the 15th we went to the County Council Meeting.

At first they banged the gong. Then the Warden came in. They they sat down. They discussed about how the highway improved in 1985. And I learned that you are covered with Insurance policy once you leave your property. Before the meeting started two men started discussing Dixie-Lee Chicken.

I live in Lutterworth and Bill Valentine was Reeve and Carol Puffer was Deputy Reeve. When we sat down we got an agenda (it's the main plan) and a brochure called "Let's Break The Silence". That was very interesting; so was the meeting.

Beside the Warden was a clerk-treasurer and he read the minutes (they are notes from the last meeting) to the Warden. And then he asked if everyone was in favour. In the meeting Carol Puffer had a speech and so did Bill Valentine.

When we were walking to the County Council Office it was 36 degrees C below zero. During the meeting Stan McDougall came to discuss the Public Libraries with the councillors and the Warden. Mr. Gary McKnight was the clerk-treasurer and he rang the gong. And Harry Davis was the Warden and he had the gong on his desk. On the wall of the County Council Office (where the meeting was held) there was a map of the County that almost covered the whole wall.

Act to be changed

- by Bill Scott, MP -

Major improvements are going to be made to the Young Offenders Act. Perrin Beatty, Solicitor General of Canada, announced the changes January 15 following national consultations with police, the legal profession, concerned citizens and provincial governments.

Authorities will be able to deal more effectively with young offenders who have, for example, violated probation conditions and other conditions of their sentences. Police will have more flexibility in detaining young offenders after their arrest. The present rules at times cause hardship for the police and young offenders.

In those circumstances where public assistance is needed to apprehend the offender quickly, the publication of names will be permitted. The Act's record-keeping provisions, which have caused a wide range of technical and administrative problems, will be improved. The law will be clarified to ensure that records are kept in cases of acquittal by reason of insanity.

Modifications will be made to the Criminal Code provision dealing with counselling criminal behaviour to ensure that no one who abuses children by involving them in criminal acts will be immune to criminal prosecution. The language of the Act will now clarify the maximum length of sentence for subsequent convictions. The courts will be able to impose appropriate sentences for new crimes with the result that the total sentence for different offences could be longer than three years.

These amendments will be introduced shortly after Mr. Beatty completes talks with his provincial counterparts in early February.

Mandatory retirement

Our riding has a large population of seniors and a special task force has been created which I think will be of special interest to many in our riding. The task force has been established to examine the existing laws and practices which permit mandatory retirement at age 65. The task force will assess the implications of any change in the existing laws which would restrict or prohibit mandatory retirement practices.

Labour minister Bill Wrye has appointed Dr. Ronald Ianni to serve as the task force chairman. Dr. Ianni is the president of the University of Windsor and the Dean of the university's faculty of law. The task force will consider the conflicting interest of older and younger workers and the effects of ending mandatory retirement on pension plans, collective agreements and hiring practices.

Spill Bill provides protection

-by Gary Kenney-

Picture for a moment one of those extraordinary spring days we all look forward to in the Highlands. The sun stands sharply against an unblemished sky; hardwoods are splashed with every shade of burgeoning green imaginable, and you're out for a family drive to drink it all in.

Rounding a lakeside curve, someone points to a doe and her yearling standing at water's edge. In one motion you quickly hit the brakes and reach for the camera. A vehicle behind swerves to miss you. It does, but out of control it careens wildly through the ditch and up an embarkment. Slowed to a stop, it lazily retreats back to the roadside and pitches over onto its side. As the driver emerges through his door's window you realize it's a tanker truck, now ruptured. All of you watch silently as thousands of gallons of waste oil surge downhill, overfill a shallow ditch and ooze across a strand of shimmering sand.

By the time the resort owner has called authorities, a thousand feet of her beach is ruined. Within weeks a government tribunal awards a million dollars compensation for damages, lost revenue, and the costly clean-up. Not long after the tanker driver loses his job, and his boss files for bankruptcy.

Fiction? Uh huh. But critics of the Ontario 'spills bill' say it's the little people, like that trucker and his boss, who will be burned by the new Liberal regulations.

Actually, the Tories passed this province's first Environmental Protection Act in 1979, but refused to enforce it. Heavy pressure from big business organizations, like the Canadian Manufacturers Association (CMA), convinced Mr. Davis to keep the regulations under wraps.

The CMA argued that acts of God, and uncontrollable accidents would put their 2,200 Ontario members in an unfair position if the 'spills bill' forced clean-up and compensation costs on them. (The Act places the blame for spills totally on the shoulders of the owner of the substance spilled.)

They further argued that liability insurance would rocket to unaffordable costs or be unavailable at any price. Then they got around to the bottom line: the CMA felt there needed to be exemptions listed in the Act to include such minor worries as municipal sewage, radioactive pollution, and industrial waste. Hmmmm.

In January our County Council briefly discussed the bill. Reeve Nesbitt tabled his worry about the effect it will have on farmers' and municipalities' insurance rates; he would like to see a delegation sent before the Minister to protest passage of the law.

Reeve Fearrey is going to report his views on the matter at some later date, perhaps even at a public meeting. The discussion then ended. (I warned you it was brief.) We will not know what other County poohbahs think until at least March, when the chambers are dusted off for the next regular social.

It's a shame County Council did not address the issue last summer with the rest of the province when a special advisory panel was sent around to gather comments. Premier Peterson will likely not put the Act on hold while our delegation sorts out whose car they'll use, and whether the Oilers will be in town that night. But not to worry; if our representatives really burn some wood on this one they're bound to see that the 'spills bill' is on track and the universe is unfolding as it should.

For instance, Liberals and their NDP cousins point out how the public purse has suffered from too many spills (nationally, about 1,000 a year according to the Canadian Environmental Law Association). In 1983, Ontario alone registered 592.

The upstarts who dared to parade on a 42 year Tory reign, go on to say that farmers are protected by a maximum $500,000 liability if guilty of a spill, and there are provisions for "owners" of spills to be compensated if they are not found responsible or cannot afford the clean-up.

Finally, if insurance is unavailable to businesses and individuals that need it, industrial leaders like Dow Chemicals and Polysar Ltd. of Sarnia agree the government should set up an agency to sell the policies itself.

Certainly fine tuning will be required as the regulations are interpreted by courts and insurance underwriters. But the gist of the bill is right on target. It will protect the environment and spills victims with speedy cleanups and compensation.

Remember Grassy Narrows? Natives in that Dryden locale just recently got a settlement for pollution of their fishing grounds by a paper mill's mercury flavoured sewage ... 15 years after the fact. County Council should save the car fare and forget the delegation.

Our farmers, small businesses, and municipalities will not be harmed by the 'spills bill'. And besides, the Oilers don't play in the Gardens anymore this season.

Education today

submitted by: H. D. Robinson, Curriculum Co-ordinator

Our article this week is written by Mrs. Sharon Chatfield, a teacher of Primary Special Education and the Gifted/Enrichment class at the J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School. Mrs. Chatfield has taken extensive training in the field of Gifted/Enrichment education and writes with considerable authority on this topic.

Fostering Critical Thinking and Decision Making In The Classroom

In our modern society, children are constantly bombarded with unrelated pieces of information from friends, family, teachers, television, print, and radio. Well developed thinking strategies are essential to organize this mass of facts and evaluate them in relation to one's experience, values, and previous knowledge. To accomplish this, basic thinking skills should be taught and students of all ages given opportunities to practise and master them.

Some people may argue that thinking is as natural as walking or breathing and does not need to be formally taught. Experimental evidence shows us otherwise. For instance, most people claim that they are open-minded and look at the positive and negative aspects of a situation. In a validated experiment, on dozens of occasions, people were asked to look at an idea which seemed wrong at first sight. The ratio of negative to positive comments was always about 20:1.

However, when these same people were deliberately asked for positive comments, they were quite able to do so. Quite clearly, it is not natural to look for the positive aspects of an idea you do not like. Running is also natural to most humans but an athlete can definitely be coached to a much better performance. I strongly believe that thinking can also be enhanced with formal teaching and a non-threatening, non judgemental environment.

In our enrichment programme at Hodgson Elementary School, I put high priority on teaching thinking as a skill to my students who have high intellectual abilities (according to past and present performances).

It used to be felt that people with high IQ's obviously were effective thinkers. This does not seem to be the case. Some people with high intellectual functioning are relatively ineffective thinkers and others with less "intelligence" are more effective.

Edward de Bono, an accredited researcher and author defines thinking as "the operating skill from which intelligence acts upon experience". He uses the analogy of intelligence being the innate horsepower of a car and thinking skill the equivalent of driving skill.

de Bono has developed specific thinking exercises which I use to try to broaden students' perceptions. The essence of the method is to focus attention on different aspects of thinking and to crystallize these into tools that can be used deliberately. Developing open mindedness, exploring alternatives, predicting consequences, setting priorities, and establishing goals are practised in individual lessons. These skills must be used ultimately in more complex exercises such as decision making, which involves an interplay of many of the skills.

During the 70's and 80's the teaching of thinking as a basic skill has been part of most gifted/enrichment programmes around the world. Gradually it is being recognized as an essential part of the curriculum in regular classrooms. Some skill in thinking can be developed as a by-product of a content subject such as History or Science, but these are only part of the broad range of thinking abilities required in life. For example, the thinking required for action must include consideration of alternatives, priorities, objectives and other people's views.

Parents also play an important role in fostering these basic thinking abilities. They can provide an environment where open-mindedness is valued and children are encouraged to view ideas from many perspectives. Experiences can be shared to help youngsters to realize the difference between fact and opinion, to see that conflicting viewpoints may be valid, and see the importance of sources of information. In a family setting, children can experience the importance of co-operation involved in group action.

In their daily lives, children need to have opportunities to look at the positive and negative aspects of ideas, to explore alternatives in situations, and to set some of their own goals. With adult guidance and practice children will develop accompanying attitudes and will be much better equipped to make individual decisions and in the future solve problems in our rapidly changing society.

When children make decisions, we must only present alternatives for which they understand the consequences. If they cannot, they are really not making an informed choice. If we increase gradually the complexity of their decisions and ensure that they live with the consequences of these decisions, we will be helping them to gain confidence in their abilities of being decision-makers.

Parents can also help children to understand the influence that their personal values will have on the decisions they make. Situations such as the following can be discussed in a way to challenge the child to use some of the elements of the decision making process.

"It was the end of the day and school was out. Marie was the first one to leave. In the schoolyard she saw a soccer ball under a bush.
"I've always wanted a soccerball," she thought. "The school has lots of them. The teachers won't miss one. Maybe I could take it home and no one would ever know."
What should Marie do? Why?"

Children can be directed in discussion to gather facts such as - Who found the ball? and Who owned it? Questions such as these can be used to help them to evaluate their original decision. If someone found your ball what would you want him/her to do? What would happen if all the school children did what you suggest? Original decisions can be reconsidered by responding to these questions. Do you think there is a better decision that Marie could make? What is it? Why is it a better one?

As teachers and parents we have the responsibilities of preparing our children for an unknown future. To promote individual fulfillment and solutions for the world's problems, let's equip them with the best tools we can. Let's help children learn to think!

Animal's plight prompts request for society

The plight of abandoned animals and neglected livestock has prompted concerned residents of Victoria and Haliburton County to lobby for the establishment of an Ontario Humane Society office to serve the two counties.

Sharron Greer, Past President of the Haliburton County Goat Society has been spearheading a campaign to extend the service of the Humane society to cover Haliburton County.

At an informal meeting at her home in Lutterworth Township on Thursday, Mrs. Greer spoke of her concern for neglected farm animals and domestic pets. In the past four years she has encountered seven separate incidents of neglect and physical cruelty to goats.

"I have seen whole herds of goats depleted because of disease. In some cases the animals were brought back to health but in other cases it was too late. The main problem has been lung worm. If the disease is not treated in time, other problems, such as pneumonia, develop. I have also seen animals that were suffering from serious cuts that had gone untreated."

For more than a month, Mrs. Greer has been caring for a two year old goat that was returned to her after spending a year on a farm in Haliburton County. The animal is gaunt, listless, has deformed hindquarters and has difficulty breathing. "The vet found the goat has stomach worms, lung worms and has a viral respiratory infection. I have been trying to save it but I am afraid it will have to be put down."

Mrs. Greer has been more than willing to care for the sick goat, but it has been expensive and time consuming.

Veterinary care was needed and to prevent the spread of disease, her entire herd had to be dewormed and deloused. "When the goat left here over a year ago she was as healthy as the rest, but she wasn't properly cared for."

Mrs. Greer and others like her are not only concerned with mistreatment of farm animals. She spoke of the frustration many people feel when they hear of animals being abandoned at dump sites or left behind by hunters.

Ernest Hills, a reporter who covers municipal councils in Victoria County, and also writes a column for the Agricultural Society, said township officials have described the problem of stray dogs as being a crisis because of the escalating financial costs. "When they consider the wages of the bylaw enforcement officer who has to catch the strays, the cost of feeding and caring for them and the possible cost of destroying them, it adds up to $125 per animal."

He cited examples of hunters "clearing out pounds in the city then bringing the dogs up here in the hunting season. If they don't work out as hunting dogs they are left behind."

In the past, people concerned about specific incidents of mistreatment have had to rely on Ontario Humane Society offices in Peterborough or Orillia. "Those offices are too far away and the only advice they have given us is to notify the OPP who then bring in a vet. That system has to be improved. For one thing we need inspectors to cover this area. As it is, quite often the problems are not discovered until it is too late."

The society could also assist with rabies clinics and offer advice to pet owners. "Most importantly we have to get people involved," Greer commented.

On Tuesday an official with the Ontario Humane Society head office in Newmarket confirmed an application has been received to establish a Victoria County branch of the Society. According to the official, if 250 pledges of $5 per person are received a charter will be granted to establish a Lindsay Chapter.

Sharron Greer is concerned about the treatment some animals and pets are receiving in the Haliburton and Victoria County areas.

Pee Wees blank Uxbridge 8-0

With a four goal performance by captain Kent Taylor and a strong effort by the defense the Minden Pee Wee "A" team skated to a convincing 8 - 0 shutout over Uxbridge at Minden Arena on Thursday. The win gave the Pee Wees a 3 - 0 win-loss record in the eight game round robin playoff series. Over the past three games Minden has scored 18 goals and only allowed three.

Coach Dave Dollo credits the strong play of the five defensemen Derrick Moore, Hunter Obee, Jaime Dollo, Dave Lee and Justin Gentle for the team's success, as well as the impressive play of goaltender Lorne Greer who has allowed only three goals in as many games during the playoffs.

Complementing the excellent play by the defense, the forwards have been very productive.

In Thursday's game, Minden scored once in the first period, added two more in the second, then overwhelmed Uxbridge with a five goal blitz in the final frame. Kent Taylor led the way for Minden with 4 goals and 2 assists. Rob Ackerblade notched a hat trick and Randy Bull added a goal and an assist to round out the scoring.

Single assists went to Jaime Dollo, Mike Muli, Justin Gentle and Hunter Obee.

The Minden Pee Wees have a busy schedule ahead of them as they continue their playoffs.

On Thursday, January 30 the team hosts Cannington at Minden Arena. On Friday the team travels to Uxbridge then returns home to face a strong team from Little Britain at 3 p.m. on Saturday.

Times continues to hold top spot in Rec. league

The Times continues to hold onto first place as the Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League enters the final week of regular season play. The team maintained its first place hold by defeating the Rockcliffe Foamblowers 8 to 2 in a game played Monday evening.

In other games this week, Home Hardware edged by Vasey's Real Estate 9 - 8 while Hall's Insurance snowed Hartwick Construction under a 13 to 10 avalanche.

The win on Monday gives Home Hardware sole possession of second place with a record of eight wins and two ties. Rockcliffe and Vasey's are locked in a third place tie with eight wins and one tie. Hartwick and Hall's share the cellar with a season total of three wins.

The final games in the regular season will be played this Monday evening.

Sid McKeigan led the attack for The Times, scoring four goals and picking up an assist in the game against the Foamblowers. Jerry Campbell was credited with a pair of goals and three assists while single goals went to Barry Shaw and Ted Vasey. Vasey's marker was unassisted. Paul Walker and Kim Colliss also assisted on the scoring.

Rick Mansfield and Jim Todd scored the Rockcliffe markers Monday with Dave Brown and Colin Wilson adding the assists.

Home victory

The win for Home Hardware did not come easily, and it wasn't until the final two minutes of the game that the team was able to break loose from a tie with Vasey's to take the one goal edge. John Dettman scored the tie-breaking goal at the 2:10 mark of the final frame.

Rick Hartwick was the big gun for Home Hardware, however, scoring five goals during the evening. One of those was unassisted. Singles were shared by Dean Hewitt, Doug Rae, Royce Miller and John Dettman. Hewitt's goal was unassisted.

Adding assists for the Home team were Brendan Berube, Mike Jackson, Doug McNab and Larry Sawyer.

Brian Shaw notched five goals in the Vasey effort. One of his was unassisted. Barry Walker scored a pair of goals while the team's only single went to Randy Anderson. Kim Hamilton assisted on three goals with singles from Eldon Bull and Dave Dollo.

The avalanche

Goals were flying like snowflakes Monday when Hall's Insurance and Hartwick Construction faced off. A total of 23 goals were scored in the game.

Seven of those markers went to John Barkwell, four of them unassisted, for the Hall's cause. Lawrence Lougheed picked up five goals while Andy Campbell managed two to boost the Hall's victory. Assists were awarded to Bern Berry, John Fedesky, Ben Manuge and John McAdam.

Kevin Hamilton led the Hartwick attack with a hattrick. Rick Salmon scored a pair of goals, one unassisted while Steve Crowe netted another pair. Single markers went to Leigh Bull, Jeff Campbell and Pete Walker. Also picking up two assists in the evening was Ken Casey.

The final games of the regular season take place this Monday evening at the Minden arena. The first of three contests begins at 7 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Local lakes, anglers listed with 1985 winners

Two local lakes and one local angler are featured in the annual list of winners of the Molson Big Fish contest for 1985. The results were released earlier this month by the Federation of Anglers and Hunters, who sponsor the competition along with the beer company.

All of the local mentions came under the smallmouth bass heading. In the catch and keep category, Head Lake in Laxton Township, west of Norland, was mentioned with two finishers. Vassilios Ioannidis of Markham placed fourth in this division with a six pound 3.7 ounce smallmouth caught in Head Lake. The lake also claimed the fourteenth prize in the 15 awarded. It was taken by John MacIntyre of Dundas who snagged a six pound fish.

In the smallmouth bass, live release section, Robert Greven of Norland is listed as the thirteenth prize winner. His fish with a fork length of 20 inches and a girth of 15.5 inches, was caught in Moore Lake.

The anglers mentioned above receive a Mitchell rod and reel for their successful participation in the contest. Those placing first in each category are awarded $150, an electric trolling motor from Evinrude and a rod and reel.

participating riders. Again this represented a decrease in the number of participants with an increase in funds collected for the charity. In 1985, 84 riders took part raising $10,000.

Bishop noted that two village residents led the list of major contributors. Bob Nicholl and Art Dawson each rode the 100 kilometre course carrying over a $1000 in pledges.

The money collected from the rides will be used to assist handicapped children in Haliburton County and throughout the province through projects supported by the two Rotary clubs and the Easter Seal Society.

Juveniles score double victory during Carnival

The Minden Monarch Juveniles were tested twice this weekend and in both matches, they claimed easy victories. Both games were part of the winter carnival activities.

On Friday evening, the team took to the ice following the selection of the carnival Queen. The Juveniles faced a team from Lindsay in an exhibition contest and defeated them by a 10-3 margin.

Barry Boice, Doug Schell and Bernie Upton paced the Juveniles with a pair of goals each. Boice also assisted on two other markers. Singles for the Juveniles were scored by Scot Hamilton, Lennie Johnston, Jeff Howe and Daryl Ward.

Minden established a four goal edge in the first period and were never really threatened throughout the rest of the game. Lindsay scored one goal before the first frame ended.

The visitors also notched the only goal of the second period as the two teams tightened up the play.

Into the third period, Minden broke loose with a six goal barrage which wasn't answered until the 2:07 mark of the period when Lindsay scored the last goal of the game.

The visitors took the majority of the penalties, being assessed for 29 minutes in infractions while Minden received 22 minutes in penalties.

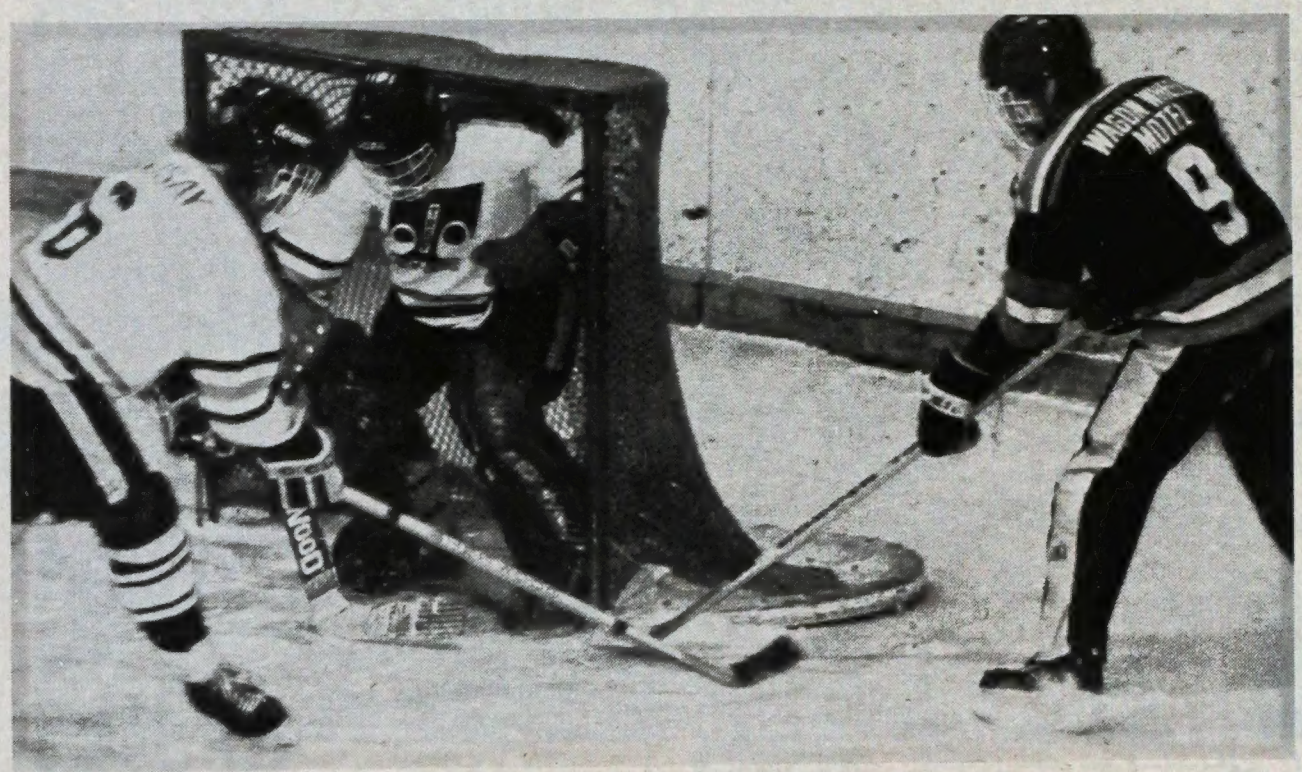
Shut out

While Friday's contest was an exhibition match, Sunday evening the Juveniles were back on their play-off schedule, this time meeting Pickering Village. However the outcome was much the same as Friday evening as the Monarchs notched ten unanswered goals to blank the visitors.

The two teams played a fairly close game for the first two periods with Minden scoring twice in the first frame and only once in the second stanza. However, the fact the visitors were only playing with ten skaters showed quickly in the third frame, as the Monarchs blasted home seven goals to seal the gam e

A four goal performance by Scot Hamilton placed the Monarchs to their victory. One of his goals was an unassisted effort. Hamilton also figured in two other Minden goals.

Barry Boice, Bernie Upton and Doug Schell added the remaining goals, each scoring a pair. One of Upton's goal was unassisted. He also added four assists to the team's effort.



While the players scramble for the puck in front of the Lindsay net, Minden Juvenile Bernie Upton, Number 9, neatly tucks it between the goalie's skates. This was just one of ten goals scored by the Juveniles in the Friday night exhibition contest.

Others figuring in the scoring were Jeff Stamp with three assists, Lennie Johnston and Jeff Howe, each with single assists.

The Monarchs were assessed 18 minutes in penalties while the visitors picked up 30 minutes.

This was the second game in the play-off series. The Monarchs have won both contests. The winner of this round-robin quarter final will advance to the provincial semi-finals.

The next game for the Monarchs is February 4 in Minden when they face Omemee. The team will then take to the road for a game February 6 in Pickering.

Anglers can win $500 at carnival

Ice fishermen will have a chance to win $500 during the Haliburton Rotary Club's annual winter carnival. The prize is one of the newest attractions to this annual event planned for February 14, 15 and 16.

According to publicity chairman Bob Stinson, a number of tagged fish will be released into Head Lake at the start of the carnival. One of them will have a special tag, which if turned in before the event ends, will net the lucky angler the $500. Rainbow trout with tags for other prizes will also be released into the lake, providing a new and interesting twist to the familiar ice fishing derby.

This year's carnival will also include a sanctioned snowmobile race to be held on Walling Field on the north side of Head Lake. While the frozen surface of the lake provides an excellent stage for such events, organizers have found their plans thwarted by slush and wet conditions in the past. By moving the course off the lake, they hope to ensure the races will go ahead as scheduled.

Also on the Friday schedule for the carnival will be a broomball tournament, hockey game, public skating, carnival bonspiel and teen dance Friday evening, featuring the selection of the Winter Carnival Queen for 1986.

Saturday will begin with a pancake breakfast at the Legion hall, and end there when the band Ugly Rumor entertains for a dance. During the day there will be a bed race down Haliburton's Main Street, a lumberjack show and competition, art sale at the gallery, cross-country ski tour and a number of other activities. A snow sculpture contest should help to create a festive mood throughout the community.

On Sunday, a giant slalom race will take place at Sir Sam's Ski area while the Legion will once again host the international dart tournament as the best of the Haliburton Legion square off against dart players at the Red Lion Inn, Deadman's Cross, Haynes, England. The two locations are liked by telephone, with speakers in each hall providing the spectators with the score. This event always proves to be a popular event.

Sunday afternoon the Haliburton Figure Skating Club will present its annual carnival at the arena. The day will also see the wind up of the bonspiel, and possibly the awarding of a $500 prize to some lucky angler.

A driver and passenger sustained minor injuries following a single vehicle accident Wednesday, January 22 on the Elephant Lake Road in Harcourt Township.

David De-La-Harpe, 62, of Wilberforce, was the driver of a 1981 model Oldsmobile when he lost control of the vehicle as it entered a downhill curve. The car skidded off the icy roadway and into a deep ditch. The vehicle sustained $6,000 in damages.

A passenger in the car, a 35 year old relative of Mr. De-La-Harpe, was slightly injured in the mishap.

The investigating officer was Constable Joe Dorricott.

Icy roads

According to the police, Barbara Brockman, 28, of Toronto was driving a vehicle pulling a trailer when she lost control of the car on icy pavement. The car entered the oncoming lane and was in collision with a Ford pick-up driven by Scott Chappell, 25, of Aurora. The collision caused the trailer to break loose and flip ove r

Damage to the Brockman vehicle was estimated at $4,000, while the Chappell truck sustained $4,500 damage.

Brockman suffered minor injuries.

The investigating officer was Constable Dave MacMartin.

News from Kinmount P.S.

by Jane Austin

Well another school term has begun and quite a few things have happened since my last article.

First of all, we had our annual Christmas dinner where everyone got stuffed on turkey, mashed potatoes, turnip and goodies. Then Santa came and passed out our gifts and drew the winner of the Wrinkles dog. Congratulations Terry King!

All of us here are enjoying and learning French from Madame McDonagh who is filling in until a permanent French teacher has been hired.

Constable Craig Black of the Ontario Provincial Police came to talk to us about Winter Safety. Now we all know the do's and don'ts.

As you all probably know, the "Old Schoolhouse" burnt in Kinmount and to show our concern the Student Council held a bake sale and white elephant sale. They made eighty dollars and donated it to the Relief Fund.

The grade 4, 5, and 6's participated in a Snow Study. They tramped around on snowshoes and learned all about snow.

Until next time, have a great Groundhog Day!

Minden Tykes

The Senior Tykes took to the ice against Haliburton on Sunday, January 26 and the teams skated to a 1 all tie.

Haliburton came to play and controlled the early part of the game, taking the lead at 6:55 of the first period on a goal by Josh Burke.

Thanks to good goaltending by Justin Rowden, Minden held on until Dennis Woods tied the game on a super solo effort at 5:34 of the second period.

The teams exchanged chances until the end of the game, but both goalies were equal to the task.

Beginning Saturday morning, race fans had two events from which to choose. The British Automotive Racing Club began two days of ice racing competitions on the sleek frozen surface of the fairgrounds.

At 11 a.m., Sno Cross and ATV races began on the All Terrain track near the arena. The annual competition was sponsored by the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association, who, in cooperation with SkiDoo and Prentice-Berry Limited, presented a Junior Amateur event for racers between the ages of 14-17. Rob McConnell of Stouffville emerged as the top rider on emerged as the top rider, competing against 12 other drivers.

McConnell went on to race in Keswick on Sunday in the Junior National Championship round and narrowly missed qualifying for the finals at the Grand Prix St. Laurent.

As the first of the Snowarama riders began arriving at the end of their 100 km journey, the carnival parade began at McKnight Drive and wound its way to the arena. After deliberations, the judges chose the Minden and District Lions club float, depicting a giant shoe, as the top non-commercial trophy winners. The Minden Figure Skating Club entry was named the second favourite and the Minden Nursery Play float captured third place.

Minden Shell and Variety was selected as the top commercial entry followed by Hollands Towing and Minden Valu-Mart in third place. With the arrival of the parade at the community centre, the crowds grew at all the events. The Crowe's Nest became the focal point of the afternoon as large crowds jammed the hall to sample roast beef on a bun prepared by the Minden Agricultural Society and to take part in the popular hat auction. Auctioneer Norm Mills brought in $950, including a $100 bid from Brian Goodger on behalf of the auctioneer Norm Mills. Money raised by the auction is donated to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Between sessions of bidding the spectators were treated to the excitement of the wrist wrestling competitions. Cam Bolt

Meeting will review park cottage leases

A series of public meetings will be held in March to review the Ontario government's existing policy to phase out cottage leases in Algonquin and Rondeau provincial parks by 1996.

"Recently, after reviewing concerns raised by leaseholders in the two parks regarding the policy, my Cabinet colleagues and I determined there should be a full public review," Natural Resources Minister Vincent Kerrio said.

The Provincial Parks Council, a citizens' advisory committee which reports directly to the Minister of Natural Resources, has been asked to review this policy and report back to the Minister with recommendations by March 27.

When Algonquin and Rondeau provincial parks were created in the 1890's, the government granted cottage leases in order to encourage park use and tourism. Since 1954, however, it has been government policy not to provide additional private cottaging opportunities in provincial parks.

In 1954, the province decided to discontinue leasing further cottage lots and to phase out existing ones. This decision was made in response to the tremendous post-war growth in outdoor recreation and the need to provide more opportunities for the public. Also, there was a desire to recapture the natural character of provincial parks.

All cottage leases were allowed to go to the full term of the agreement, plus an additional 21 years. Therefore, the last leases would expire in 1996.

The Provincial Parks Council, established in 1974, consists of members of the public who advise the Minister of Natural Resources on issues pertaining to the planning, development and management of Ontario provincial parks.

The public meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will commence with a presentation that outlines the existing policy. The meetings are scheduled as follows:

March 4: St. Martin of Tours, Parish Hall, Whitney.

March 5: Westbury B and C Rooms, Loews Westbury Hotel, 475 Younge St., Toronto.

March 6: Wedgewood Room, Wheels Inn, 615 Richmond St. at Keil Dr., Chatham.

Senior games planning begins

by Bruce Armstrong

The first Ontario Senior Games were held in various communities in 1983 and, sponsored by the Drop-in Centre, Haliburton joined the growing numbers in 1984 and 1985. The Haliburton County Home Support Services is a member of the Older Adult Centres Association of Ontario (O.A.C.A.O.) who in 1982 formed an Ontario Senior Games Committee.

Our Community Games schedule in 1986 will involve the same 9 activities as last year and will run from May 26 to June 13. The last two weeks in June are reserved for our designated District 11 finals against Muskoka to determine worthy district representatives eligible to attend the first ever Provincial Play-offs in the Kitchener ACTIFEST in September.

Obviously this endeavour will require much work and planning, and further information will be published as the weeks pass.

As a preview we've planned another special event for activities members at the Drop-in Centre on Wednesday, February 19. Please reserve that date for a post-Valentine, post-Carnival, mid-winter Ontario Senior Games sequel to the Fun-day held last December.

The all-day schedule of events may be attended in part or in full; the details are as follows: 10:00 a.m. curling, or observation of curling, or cards and observation of curling at the rink; 12:00 noon, chicken luncheon at the Drop-in Centre; 1:00 p.m. Choice of activities, bridge, euchre or cribbage.

The cost of the luncheon is again $5.00 and is to be paid at the time of registration by the conveners or at the centre. Actual curlers will be relieved of another dollar. Please register by February 14.

Guild news

by Virginia Muenzel

Thirty-four people turned out for the Guild's first general meeting on January 20 to hear Dr. Gordon Smith, the naturapathic physician from Carnarvon, speak. The next general meeting is planned for March 17, with the knitting group in charge of the arrangements.

The knitters regular meeting is at 1:30 p.m. February 4. The Guild Committee meeting is at 4 p.m. February 5 at the Gallery.

Don't forget, the Winter Carnival is coming up February 14, 15 and 16. At that time the Gallery will be opening with "Good Evening Sports Fans". An exhibition for winter sports enthusiasts. From the collection of the Hockey Hall of Fame and Sports Hall of Fame, we bring to you photos, equipment and paintings of winter sports spanning the last 100 years.

At the same time, the Winter Carnival Craft Sale will be on. Visitors will be able to buy an assortment of arts and crafts with home-made goodies as an extra attraction. The show and sale goes on until March 1.

Since there are a few of us out there who are interested in writing of one sort or another, we thought we'd try to form a group. So if anybody is in favour of getting together, please call me, or Joan Hoad and we'll go on from there.

Horticulturists look back

submitted

January is the month when we look back at our accomplishments of the previous year and look forward with plans for the coming year.

For the Minden and District Horticultural Society the past year was a busy one. They planted and maintained sixteen flower beds and ten wooden planters. At the new Chamber of Commerce building several members helped with the landscaping. The society donated and planted two flowering crabs on that site.

Many hours of planning and labour went into the annual Flower Show which was held in August. Thanks to Illa Cooper and her committees - it was the most successful one to date.

In the spring you will see the results of the fall bulb planting. There will be a spectacular display of red tulips and yellow daffodils in the beds for you to enjoy.

The Pot Luck Supper and annual meeting will be held in the Minden United Church, Tuesday, February 4 at 6:30 p.m. Bring your own place setting. The guest speaker will be Mr. John Rekker of Rekker's Gardens, Bowmanville.

He will be speaking and showing slides of "1986 All-American Selections of Bedding Plants".

Everyone is invited to this very interesting evening.

Sculptor's work sinks to a new low

Haliburton county native and sculptor, George Pratt, expects to see his latest project sink to a new low this coming year.

Pratt, who works from his studio in Vancouver, is currently preparing a granite statue which will become one of the central features in an underwater park near his British Columbia home. The sculptor sends the following report on his latest project.

Chips are flying as local sculptor George Pratt hammers his way into a 5-ton block of limestone in Railspur Alley on Granville Island. Pratt expects to chisel away about two tons of stone in the transformation of a rather humble-looking quarry block into an elegant little mermaid, depicted in the process of feeding her pets their lunch.

The work has been commissioned by a group of British Columbia scuba divers headed up by Jim Willoughby of Powell River. They are establishing an underwater park at the western end of the Sechelt Peninsula. When the sculpture is complete, it will be lowered to the ocean floor to rest for all time as a focal point in the new underwater preserve. According to Willoughby, the diving in the area is second to none in the world for a unique undersea experience and he expects the establishment of an ocean floor park complete with sculptures will attract scuba divers from all over the world.

Pratt expects the mermaid will be ready for her sinking ceremony concurrent with the opening of EXPO. "Granville Island management kindly provided the space down here to execute the work," says Pratt. "And it's a real 'people-pleaser' project."

Branch 129 news

by Gerald Irish

The first training session for Cadets was held Monday evening, January 20. After a brief orienting and information session, the Cadets were divided into two companies. Under the leadership of Training Officer Luke Schell and Commanding Officer Wayne Wood, each company was taught some very basic drills. The young men and women involved showed keen interest and splendid co-operation. During the evening Cadet Officer and Branch 129 President Joan Irish welcomed the Cadets and wished them much success in their years in No. 1129 R.C. (Army) C.C.

Plans for the Bluegrass Festival to be held in Haliburton this summer are progressing well. Bluegrass groups such as American Heritage and The Indiana Boys have been booked and we are in the process of finalizing all bookings. Don't forget that Mac Wiseman and The Whiskey Jacks will be coming to your Legion on March 22. This will be a great chance for devotees and the uninitiated to hear Bluegrass at its best. I will have a lot more information for you on these events as we finalize details.

On Saturday night, February 8, Del Dickenson, "The Yorkshire Lad", will be at Branch 129 for your dancing pleasure and a fun time. Del is well known throughout Ontario and always pleases his audiences with his jokes, music and other entertainment forms. Tickets to see and hear The Yorkshire Lad are now on sale. Advance tickets are $6.00 per person for the dance and show and a fish and chips lunch. Not bad, eh? Tickets at the door will be $7.00 per person.

The parking area at the west back of the Legion is now brightly lighted. This should help to deter certain characters from snooping around vehicles parked there.

Donations to assist with the expenses of constructing the new bar in the club room are still coming in to your Legion. Many people have already donated $200.00 or more for this project and will each have a plaque with their name on it situated prominently in the bar. Some people are donating monies "In memory of ..." We would appreciate hearing from more of you. Please help.

As usual, that highly regarded entertainer, Joey Nicholson, royally entertained the people in the club room last Saturday night. Joey's inimitable song stylings and easy mannerisms have made him a very popular performer at your branch.

Senior curlers will host 'spiel February 11

submitted

There has been both quality and quantity Senior events taking place at the Minden Curling Club during this fall and winter season.

The "Adult" members opened their fall session with a Wine & Cheese 'New Member' introductory party with President Harold Morgan as Master of Ceremonies and was attended by approximately 90 regular and prospective members. Just to up-date our membership list, we are proud to report that the Minden Seniors Curling Club has a total of 141 members (active and special).

In the first schedule we had 16 senior men's rinks and 18 senior mixed rinks, so you can well understand the keen competition that takes place each Monday and Friday afternoon. Each Wednesday afternoon the senior ladies and the regular club ladies also compete in a "Girls Only Game" and again, the competitive spirit is very dominant and friendly. The first ladies schedule was won by the Catherine Kellett rink, supported by Alberta Maitland, Elizabeth Wright and Claire Brown.

Our first schedule for men commenced November 4 and terminated on January 13. Again, the competition was extremely sharp and the winner had to be decided by counting the number of ends as each rink ended up with equal wins in games. Eventually the winner of this "Wernich VS Hackner" contest was the Milt Endicott rink, with Bob Wiltshire as vice, and Ralph Kennedy and Roly Scott as second and lead. The runner up was the Burton rink skipped by Jim with Phil Graham as vice and Ev Harding and Paul O'Brien as second and lead. We believe you will agree that there was a fine display of excellent curling in this and other contests.

The mixed schedule, from November 8 through January 10 was a "down to the wire" situation and skip Peg Pettinger ably assisted by George Davidson, Grace Munns and Dave Schuyler just managed (with total points) to edge the rink of skip George Dickie and Reg Hart, Aileen Blears and Doris Craig. A very close and exciting finish and good sportsmanship.

The Club trophies will be awarded at the Senior banquet in April.

The second schedule is now in progress and considering the fact that sunny Florida has enticed some of our local curlers to that area, we still have 12 rinks for men and 14 rinks for mixed competition with a list of spares to fill in.

We anticipate the competition will be very much in evidence and new pressures will be exerted so that another winner and/or winners will emerge as of March, as there will be two new trophies donated for the second schedule.

In addition to the regular schedule, the Seniors Club will host the "Red & White" spiel on February 11, sponsored by Valu-Mart Minden, managed by Bill Kulas, and we expect a total of 16 rinks, both local and out of town from eastern and southern Ontario. As usual, our efficient and well organized ladies will be preparing an appetizing lunch for our guests at this and future bonspiels.

Drop in to the club on any curling day and watch the "Adults" display their curling skills. All are welcome.

The following poem is from the January 26 Toronto Star.

How nice it would be,
If someone would say
"That was nice, what you did or you said."
How nice it would be,
If they said to your face
Those things that they say
When you're dead.
"She was a grand old lady,"
or
"He was a great old guy."
Our love for them would soon repay,
Those little things they never say.
(Written on my 84th birthday)

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Publications now available

The 1986 Field Crop Recommendations (Publication No.296) contains up to date information on recommended varieties, insect and disease control methods and general crop management suggestions for a number of crops. This includes field corn, forages, cereal grains, beans and peas, soybeans and canola. The results of research test plots from across the province are incorporated into these recommendations. In addition, sections on soil management and fertilizer use and general information on pesticide usage will be of value to farmers.

The 1986 Guide to Chemical Weed Control (Publication No. 75) is also now available. This publication contains all of the up to date information on the use of herbicides to control weeds in both field crops and horticultural crops grown in Ontario as well as recommendations for weed control along roadsides and in non-crop areas.

Two leaflets which are available are the 1986 Report of the Ontario Hybrid Corn Performance Trials conducted in '84 and '85 by the Ontario Corn Committee and the 1986 Report of the Ontario Soybean Variety Trials conducted in '83 to '85 by the Ontario Oil and Protein Seed Crop Committee. Both of these leaflets contain lists of varieties which are recommended for use in the province during the coming year.

A booklet of assistance to home gardeners is Publication No. 64 - Insect and Disease Control in the Home Garden. This booklet is published every two years and the current edition covers 1985 and 1986.

All of these publications are available from any county agricultural office. The farm publications are also available through most general farm supply outlets. Again this year, there is no charge for copies of these publications.

Forages - You key to profit

Are forages a forgotten crop of the past, but a serious crop for the future? Many farmers are now re-evaluating forages as an important part of their farming operations.

Forages - Your Key to Profit - is the title of an educational series designed to provide vital information on forages to beef, dairy and cash crop farmers. Three one-day seminars on pastures, hay and silage and "cash in on forages" will be held at several locations across Ontario this winter. The Seminars for East Central Ontario farmers will be held in the conference room at the Lindsay Agricultural Office on Thursdays, February 20, 27 and March 6.

The first session on hay and silage will be held on Thursday, February 20, starting at 10 .am. This session will discuss forage programs plus harvest and preservation techniques that will produce top quality forages necessary in obtaining high production levels. This day's program will be slanted toward dairy farmers. Forage varieties, fertilizers required, minimizing harvest losses, using silage additives and formulating rations will be topics emphasized.

The session on pastures will be held on February 27 and this day's program will be slanted toward beef producers. This session will cover the planning of pasture programs, renovating old pastures, sound pasture management practices and optimizing gains per animal and per acre throughout the entire year.

The session "Cash In On Forages" looks at forages as an alternative to cash crops. This session will be held on Thursday, March 6, again starting at 10:00 a.m. Farmers are becoming increasingly aware of problems developing for continuous cash crops and are examining alternatives. This seminar looks at some of the benefits obtained from forage production in the rotation. The feasibility of marketing hay, red clover seed production and soil conservation measures will be among the topics discussed.

Farmers wishing to participate can register through their county agricultural office. The fees for the program day which include the cost of lunch are $20.00 for any one day; $25 for any two days or $30.00 for participation in all three days of the seminar. Forages - Your Key to Profit - is sponsored by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, The Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association and the Ontario Agricultural College of the University of Guelph.

Leaders to attend conference

Five 4-H leaders from Victoria and Peterborough Counties will be attending the upcoming Provincial 4-H leaders' conference, to be held in Toronto at the end of January. Bob Burley and Shirley King will attend on behalf of the Victoria 4-H Leaders Association, while Gala Robinson, Barb Nichols and Ileen Armstrong will represent the Peterborough 4-H Leaders Association.

The conference is designed to be of a professional development nature, and will provide a medium for exchange of program ideas. A new 4-H Leaders' Handbook will be distributed at the conference - this is a new reference resource designed to help the 4-H Leader work more effectively with young people.

Violet Malone, a professor and State Leader of Extension Education in Illinois, will be the keynote speaker at the conference. Violet's familiarity with youth and 4-H leaders will allow her to offer some excellent insight and advice to those leaders in attendance.

The 4-H leader is the backbone of the 4-H program across Ontario. The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food recognizes the important role that these leaders play in the development of 4-H youth. With this in mind, they are providing a unified approach to leader training on a provincial basis.

Accounting strategy for 1986

Can you imagine a manufacturing industry today that does not keep track of its sales volume, its labour inputs and its production per man hour?

A farm is a manufacturing industry, yet many farmers do not account for their physical inputs and sales in a way that allows them to determine where they are doing well and where losses are occurring in their system.

Planning and accounting strategy depends on two decisions that a manager must make: Do I want to know what is happening on my farm? And do I want production and financial information on which to base future decisions?

Knowing where you are is crucial to getting where you want to be. Guesses are most frequently wrong. If your goal is to wean 20 pigs per sow per year, it takes more than 8 pigs weaned per litter and each sow must farrow more than 2 1/4 litters per year. Boarders reduce the average, so unproductive sows must be identified and shipped out. Similarly, a dairy farmer who is trying to average 8000 litres of 4% milk must know where his herd is now, which cows are keeping him back, and be decisive enough to act on this knowledge.

Keeping records to satifsy income tax requirements is necessary, and no one likes to pay income tax, but if a farmer's only goal is to not pay tax, it's not likely he'll have to. Speaking personally, I'd rather have a high enough income to be taxable. Good business records are all that are required by the income tax department, although it is wise to have a good accountant who knows tax requirements and can make adjustments for tax purposes.

Once a farmer has decided he wants to keep useful production and financial records, he must be prepared to record entries for each enterprise separately. For instance, if a feed bill contains $500 worth of hog grower and $300 worth of beef cow mineral, he would enter $500 under hog feeds and $300 under cattle feed. Similarly, if a swine operator wishes to see whether his farrowing or his finishing enterprise is making him more money, he might keep separate ledgers for each of these enterprises. If he doesn't, he must go on not knowing what his costs of production are for each phase of his business.

The final necessity in a good accounting system is to analyze the records at least once a year. Keeping records doesn't make anyone any money. Analyzing them and acting on the results is where dollars are made. The records should answer these questions: Where did I win or lose? How did this enterprise perform relative to other years?

When these questions are answered, the profit-oriented manager asks: How close did I come to reaching my financial goals? Should I increase this or decrease that? How can I change my production system to make more money? Could I do better by doing something else? This is where the search for excellence begins.

One reason that many farmers dislike keeping records is that they don't see any personal benefit in doing so. Those who are serious about making money keep records to show how and where they gained or lost. This should be the goal of every farm manager in 1986.

We are having very mild weather again and it's taken the snow down nicely. Monday morning at Fun & Fitness, Crafts in the afternoon and movies in the evening, namely "New Zealand", "White Throat" and "West Through Canada".

Tuesday morning Rev. Westhaver of the Minden United Church, took the service. In the afternoon we had a real good Trivial Pursuit game. In the evening Murray and Shirley Davis and Gordon Houghton were here for music night. We all enjoy them very much.

Thursday afternoon the Kinettes of Minden brought us a delicious lunch, we always enjoy the Tea Parties especially when they visit around while they're here. The Prentice twins came to have supper with their Aunt Lola and helped with the Bingo in the evening.

Friday afternoon a game called Person, Place or Thing was played in the main lounge. Everyone really enjoyed this as we learned a great deal about different people's lives.

Saturday morning Doris warmed up the Bus and took us downtown to go in the parade. When we returned we were happy to receive the Millbrook Legion Drum Corps band come in to entertain us. This little band has made up many tunes of their own, everyone thoroughly enjoyed them.

We are making great use of our V.C.R. that was purchased from the Donation Fund. We are now able to have special movies all weekend or whenever we please. Thanks to all who have donated to this Fund, as we are able to have many things for our enjoyment.

Many people have flu and colds in here now, we hope they will soon recover.

Our sincere sympathy to the Dave Stamp family in the loss of their mother and also to Dave who is now in Toronto General Hospital.

The weather man is calling for lots more snow, here's hoping we don't get too much. Till next week, take care.

IN MEMORIAM

LUKE: In loving memory of a dear husband, father, grandfather and greatgrandfather Edward, who passed away January 31, 1982.

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall,
You had a kindly word for each,
Then passed away - beloved by all.

Our hearts still ache with sadness,
Our secret tears still flow,
What it meant to lose you dear one,
No one will ever know.

When the days are sad and lonely,
And everything goes wrong,
We seem to hear you whisper,
Cheer up and carry on.

Each time we see your picture
You seem to smile and say
Don't cry, I'm only sleeping
We'll meet again someday.

You are not forgotten loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last,
We will all remember thee.

Lovingly remembered by
Wife Edith and family.
